

This I believe...

- Life is good and you have to work at it every day to make sure it stays that way.
- Honesty and Loyalty are the pillars of what make life good.
- A strong family connection can help you survive some of life's most challenging moments.
- Having faith in yourself and your beliefs guides you in making the right choices.
- Hope and the power of prayer will keep you afloat no matter what life throws at you.
- As an educator I must have compassion for all children and believe that all children can learn.
- As an educator I must be both empathetic and compassionate when working with others.
- Dedication and Perseverance are driving forces in the high levels of expectations that I hold myself to.
- Students need to be intrinsically motivated and ambitious in order to reach their maximum potential.
- Everything in life happens for a reason and therefore I cannot dwell on things, but seek the reason and learn from it..
- There are no bad children, just children who make poor choices.
- I am bound to make mistakes, but if I learn from them so I don't make the same mistakes twice...that is part of the learning process.
- Crying is not a sign of weakness.
- I am a lifelong learner.

Chelsea Brown
EDU 5743 – Assignment C - Credo