

	Student #1 Yellow	Student #2 Green	Student #3 Blue	Student #4 Pink	Student #5 Purple	Student #6 Green	Student #7	Student #8
1. Is there an adult you trust or respect – someone you think you could talk to at school?		No (Why?)	No (Why?)	Yes	Yes	Yes – four of them	Yes	Yes
2. What is it about that adult that makes you trust or respect him/her?		I feel that if I tell an adult about something, they might tell someone else.	Because it is my first year in this school and I usually don't associate with teachers.	I respect the ones who are nice and treat us like adults. I can't talk with teachers because it feels kind of awkward.	He is funny and responsive and will keep your secret safe.	They all seem to care and like their students a lot.	I trust her because she is very nice and trusting.	The person is smart and fair and makes good decisions.
3. How might you respond if you saw someone being bullied (Verbally or Physically)?	I would tell them to stop and tell an adult.	I might ask the person if they wanted help – if they were my friend but otherwise I would probably ignore it.	I would tell them to “knock it off” and bring the victim away from the bully.	I would most likely really not notice but if I did I'd try to stop them.	I would try to break it up and report it to the teachers.	Since I've gone through both I would try as hard as I could to put a stop to it.	I would stand up for them or just pretend to start a conversation with them.	I would try to stop it if I could but, if the bully was big and didn't care what they did, they can't be stopped as easy.
4. Where in the building do “bullying” incidents take place?	In the halls because it is so crowded	Bullying incidents mostly take	The courtyard	At lunch or outside.	Everywhere. Even in the hallways and	I think it probably happens in	The hallways or outside.	They take place in the hallway and and the adults aren't always there.	place in the hallways. Mostly they are just for seconds in between classes.			in the classrooms.	the cafeteria or outside in the morning and at lunch.		at lunch.

5. Why don't students report these incidents?	Because they think it won't help to tell the counselors.	Most of these are so quick that students don't think they matter, but overall they add up.	They don't want the bullies to think they are babies.	They don't feel comfortable talking to teachers.	They are afraid that they will get bullied if the bully finds out that they told.	They don't report because they think it is tattling and think it will get worse.	They are afraid that they will look bad and since they told on the person who was bullying they think they will be bullied.	Students don't report these incidents because they don't care about what is happening or they don't want to get bullied.
6. What suggestions do you have for NMS to reduce/eliminate bullying?	Have students talk about these topics in housegroup, like us.		Put up more signs.	To give a sufficient punishment. People who get punished won't want to hurt people again.	Give more assemblies, put up posters that say bullying becomes worse when no one stops the bullying.	We can help everyone get along and help them learn to forgive.	Stand up for other people.	They should be more strict with the punishments for hurting others.
7. What can the grown-ups do to help the victims?		They can help them by teaching them to stand up for	Be more aware of what is happening in the courtyard.	Talk to them.	Try to find out who the bully is.	Teach the victim that telling a teacher is NOT tattling, it is standing	Try to talk to them and give them counseling.	The grown-ups need to tell the victims to ignore the bully and

		themselves by telling the bully to stop. Trying to comfort them doesn't help.				up for yourself.		stay away, but don't show fear.
8. What can grown-ups do to help the bullies?			Take them aside and talk to them and their parents.	Talk to them and give sufficient punishments.	Maybe the bullies have a hard life at home...so help them at home.	Help find any insecurities and find out what is triggering the bullying.	Try to talk to them and give them counseling.	Grown-ups should ask the bullies what is bothering them and try to stop that.
9. What can grown-ups do to help the onlookers/bystanders?			Tell them to not stand there – "Stand up or leave"	Talk to them.	Give more assemblies, put up posters that say bullying becomes worse when no one stops the bullying.	Teach them that telling a teacher is NOT tattling, it is standing up for yourself or someone else.	Try to talk to them and prevent bullying.	